The Currahee Regiment - the 506th Airborne Infantry Regiment – has distinguished itself in service from WWII through Vietnam, Korea, Iraq and Afghanistan. Made famous in the book “Band of Brothers” by Stephen Ambrose, the 506th Parachute Infantry Regiment of the 101st Airborne initial training included daily runs up the Currahee Mountain at Camp Toccoa, Georgia. “Currahee” means “Stands Alone” and has been a rallying cry through its many difficult missions. The unit parachuted into Normandy, Holland and fought in the Battle of the Bulge at Bastogne as well as many other WWII engagements. The Currahees continued the tradition in many actions in the A Shau Valley and Hamburger Hill in Vietnam, guarding the DMZ in Korea, and in lead rolls in Iraq and Afghanistan.

The 506th Airborne Infantry Regiment Association not only honors and preserves the heritage of the unit, but provides many levels of support to currently serving troops and families as well as veterans from all eras.

The Association has been supporting Currahees since 1996 in many ways including:

- Financial support for Currahee WOWS (widows, orphans and wounded soldiers)
- Hospital visitations and aid for wounded Currahees and their families
- Scholarships for current or former Currahees and their family members
- Morale support for deployed units through care packages
- Providing mentoring and networking support for separating Currahees
- Financially supporting the Ft. Campbell memorial to those Currahees Killed in Action.
- Preserving the history of the 506th through the website and document retention.

We are a volunteer based, non-profit 501(c)19 Veteran’s Association supporting Active Duty Troops and Veterans (EIN: 91-2088108)

Now you can help support and care for Veterans of the Currahee Regiment with your sponsorship and advertising in the monthly Actions and Issues Report for only $500. Or, other opportunities are available for support in the Currahee Newsletter, website and events.

To show your support, please call Kelli Loar for sponsorship information at (931) 820-1506.
